

UNIVERSITAS HASANUDDIN UPDATE

UNHAS COMMENCES ITS SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL CLASS

Since late 2016, UNHAS has continuously explored measures to establish its International Classes. The first International classes were inaugurated the same year, for two study programs under the Faculty of Economics and Business, which are Accounting, and Management Study Programs; and one study program at Faculty of Public Health.

UNHAS then continued to establish International Classes for Civil Engineering, International Relations, Geological Engineering, and Marine Sciences. All seven International classes in Hasanuddin University facilitate advanced teaching and learning with facilities that are of International standards.

The undergraduate programs are opened for students in Indonesia, and prospective students worldwide.

All classes are taught in English. What makes the International Class programs unique, is the solid partnership that these study programs have developed with partnering universities around the globe, including those in Malaysia, Japan, Germany, and Australia.

UNHAS is committed to attracting students worldwide to experience short and long-term studies in the International Classes.
