ANDI FATHINAH NURUL ISLAM LAW FACULTY (2019)

My dream since a kid was to live abroad in one of the world's most diverse countries. A pursuit I have always seen to be unrealistic and even borderline impossible. Thankfully, I finally lived my dream through the IISMA program at Boston University in Massachusetts. Boston, a home to Ivy Leagues and other finest universities (wicked smart students from all over the world), the infamous Boston Marathon, and the best seafood selection across the east coast.

As an exchange student, life was exciting yet scary at the same time. I received tremendous support from the campus, professional help, and friends. Studying business and management, which is a 180° change from a law major, was quite challenging. But with competent professors, campus facilities, and feedback sessions, I pushed through and adjusted accordingly to the culture shock.

Partaking in a cross-cultural experience abroad is highly encouraged; I was able to share that through student clubs, traveling to other states, and participating in gatherings during the whole semester. I learned many valuable life lessons and gained a new support system throughout my IISMA program. A simple thank you would not suffice to describe my gratitude for the best experience in my life. #BeBOLDtogoABROAD

MEET OUR STUDENT VOLUNTEERS (STUVO)

UMY KEYLA ENGLISH LITERATURE (2019)

Hello! You can call me "Keyla" or "the hyperactive"; that's what my STUVO friends call me. Maybe I became very active because I liked my role as a volunteer at the UNHAS International office. Not only volunteering, but I am also a final-year student majoring in English Literature (P.S., wish me luck for my thesis, hehe). I really enjoy public speaking. Therefore, I am also a radio announcer on one of Indonesia's national radio stations, namely I-Radio Makassar. You can hear me on the air every night at 96.0 FM! This is my fourth year as a broadcaster as well as a voice-over talent, and I love this job.

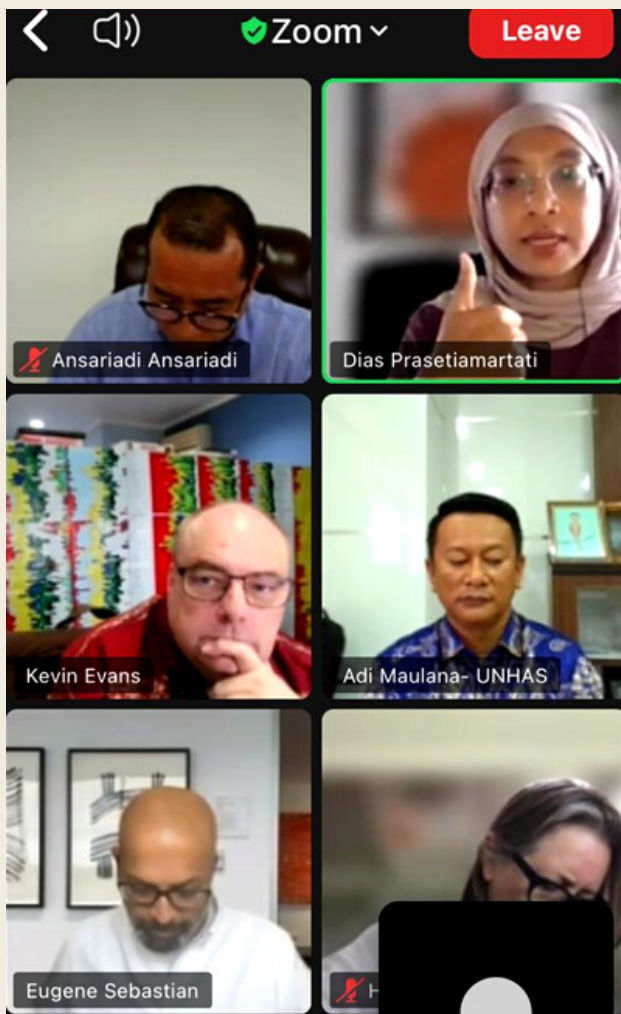

Being a volunteer is a movement from the heart, and whoever feels it will be lucky. I have gained many valuable experiences as a STUVO. Becoming an International Cultural program (ICP) delegate, having workshops with national STUVO friends, meeting ambassadors from Canada to interview her for excellence, and learning about study abroad with UNHAS international office staff. Among all my experiences, I am very grateful to have had the privilege of serving as the liaison officer for foreign guests. Lastly, I am also happy to be able to share my knowledge of Indonesian with 60 foreign students at UNHAS by becoming a teaching assistant.

After my journey to becoming a STUVO, these experiences have inspired me to set goals for my future and this is one of the best decisions I've ever made!
